

Job Title	Kveller Editor
Industry	Internet/Online/New Media
Benefits	403B, Dental, Health
Job Duration	Full Time
Job Location	New York, NY

Kveller, the leading digital lifestyle brand for parents raising Jewish kids, is seeking a whip-smart and creative editor with a passion for digital media and an eye on parenting trends to lead its editorial team. Kveller is the go-to place for women to talk about everything from pregnancy and breastfeeding, to childcare and balancing a career, to what to think about Ivanka Trump, to the latest on Natalie Portman, Mila Kunis, and other Jewish celebrity mamas. The editor will manage both the day-to-day publication schedule as well as take the lead in planning larger projects to help keep Kveller fresh and relevant in the ever-evolving world of online media.

Job Requirements:

The Kveller Editor curates and edits all content for the website, and manages a large and growing base of freelance contributors as well as the Kveller Editorial Assistant, along with overseeing daily newsletters, special series, and sponsored content. The Editor works closely with the audience development team to brainstorm and implement initiatives to expand Kveller's reach and diversify content through social media and video. The Kveller Editor reports to the Editorial Director of the brand's parent company, 70 Faces Media.

The ideal candidate has:

- Excellent writing, editing, and proofreading skills
- A passion for covering women-related topics and parenting
- Some knowledge of Jewish culture
- A knack for writing strong headlines with social media and SEO in mind
- An eye for digital trends and viral content
- The ability to multi-task and an eagerness to take on new roles
- A sense of humor

About us

Kveller is an award-winning publication of 70 Faces Media — the largest and most diverse Jewish media company in North America. Our brands collectively reach 2 million people each month.

Please forward a cover letter and resume to jobs@70facesmedia.org and put Kveller Editor in the subject line.